Side of McKinley.

BT FRANK BUTZOW.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Sept. 24.—[Special] was blown clear off Republicans here today. Gov.
refused to support Republican Chairman Frank L.
United States senator against William R. McKinley.

His ally, Attorney General
Carstrom, have broken with the governor. Smith will be at once as chairman of Gov.
Illinois commerce commission.
a few days—perhaps before Jan.
McKinley, accustomed to all in political warfare, will be declarations of war between political forces that have been the last five years.

Waiting for the Bomb.

Political lines are being shaped right, as all sides are holding fire temporarily. They cannot afford their broadsides long.

Smart politicians, including even the sagrest strategists of the confused over the development came to a head with Re-day at the Illinois state fair.

Small was quoted as say-

"He cannot win. Lundin with him; Senator Durbin with him; I cannot see the fourth manager bringing in a situation that had been in the scenes for four

Both Senators Stunned.

It was a stunning blow to the Smith camp, which had every reason, even the private of Mr. Small and Fred Lundin, to the support of the smallest of the state chairmen.

Gov. Small has been coming since the arrival of Gov. Small's Kansas last week, but they could not believe that even Gov. Small would do it in a show-down.

The governor believes it is better to have money as prerequisite to debt concessions.

It has been said for the governor that he does not want to stir up old political differences in the senatorial campaign with the $1,000,000 treasury in it pending against him.

Robert Hale Sees as Factor.

The case before the court is uppermost in the governor's mind to the degree of all other things; his enemies, and is exerting a profound influence on his thoughts and actions.

Political moves, including his attitude toward the senatorship of Illinois.

He has the attitude of the secret desire to crush who, as one of the big factors in politics, is dangerous to the interests of others, including the Senate.

GAINS THRONE

BLACKMAILERS' VICTIM DUE FOR KASHMIR THRONE

Maharajah, Uncle of Sir Hari Singh, Dies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Sept. 24.—News reached London today of the death in Kashmir of Sir Pratab Singh, maharajah of Kashmir, and of the probable succession to the throne of his nephew, Sir Hari Singh, central figure of the "Mr. A." case in the London courts last year.

Sir Hari Singh was kidnapped by a gang who used as a decoy Mrs. Robinson, pretty wife of a broken race-track jockey, and obtained $100,000 ($50,000) from the young Indian prince.

It is virtually certain that Sir Hari will succeed to the throne. He is persona grata to the government of India, which has the final decision.

The maharajah's only son died years ago and his nephew is the legitimate heir.

The throne of Kashmir is one of the wealthiest and the country one of the most romantic regions in India. It is known as the land of nightingales and roses. The income of the ruler is more than $1,000,000 ($50,000,000) yearly. The territory is about 80,000 square miles, with a population of 3,000,000.

Sir Pratab was one of the best friends England had in India. When the great war broke out, although he was 65 years of age, he brought his army to France, and was made a major general.

I got by the committee I think O.K. . . . By giving the committee the origin of the New York end of the campaign funds, and stating it in terms of underwriting and sub-underwriting, they were unable to arrive at the information they were primarily after from me.

"With warm regards, believe me,
"Sincerely yours,
"W.M. LOEB JR."

Sprague Comments on Letter.

When court rose for a brief recess Col. Sprague's comment on this amazing letter was:

"Do right and fear no man. Don't write ever."

As long as the Wood primary campaign money lasted, it flew, for in March, 1920, Procter wrote to Loeb:

I know you realize the necessity of immediate response in presidential nominating campaigns . . . Our disbursements today were $32,000."

But lavish as were expenditures, the cry was ever for more, and for more money to meet them, and Procter's Mandarin means to Loeb gave poignancy to his repeated emphasis on what he called "the imperative necessity of immediate assistance," and he added to that phrase so popular with melodious vowels, these words: "Address all letters concerning financial matters to me."

And in that command is the rub of the contention of the defense. They insist that Procter was not only all the eggs but the container, too, of the Wood campaign. To sustain their contention they offer square yards of deposition threatening yesterday a furlong of 87 depositions before all the fiscal linen is washed and hung out.

Many of them are of sparkling interest as bright lights on American politics and on history in the making. As such their importance far transcends the importance of this lawsuit. For example, the deposition of Robert Smith, clerk of the United States District court in Omaha, contained these words:

Procter told me that what he himself had put into the campaign ran somewhere past $500,000. As I remember it was nearer a million."

I do not think that any of us who joined under the General's banner are experts. We made a clean, tight and hot look—but, we are good and with us the old gang holds some other time.

With warm regards, believe me,

"Faithfully yours,
"WILLIAM LOEB JR."

HAZING WRECKS LAKE FOREST'S CIVIC BANDSTAND

Freshmen at Lake Forest college marched through the campus and the streets of Lake Forest with their trousers rolled up at the command of the sophomores, gathered yesterday on the artistic civic bandstand in the market place of the exclusive north shore town.

The concerted pounding on the floors of the structure, which was designed by Howard Van Doren Shaw, caused its collapse. Dean of Men Garrett H. Leverett called Mayor Frank Winston and told him the college would have it rebuilt.

Ceds were hauled on the campus. They were compelled to march in formation, each wearing one black and one white stocking. One male student who became too fresh was ducked in the campus pond.

COOLIDGE BIDDEN BY UNION LEAGUE CLUB OF CHICAGO

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(Special)—President Coolidge was invited today to address the Union League club of Chicago at Washington's birthday celebration on Feb. 22 next. The invitation was extended by Representative Madden [Rep., Ill.]. The President was unable to indicate whether or not he would accept. He said he would take it under consideration.

The President is planning to go to Chicago early in December to address the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

MARCUS AURELIUS NOW MEDITATES ON COOK COUNTY BANK AFFAIRS

Marcus A. Aurelius, executive vice-president of the Calumet group of banks, was elected president of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association yesterday at the annual meeting, held at the Hotel Day.

William J. Rathje, president of the Mid-City Trust and Savings bank, was elected vice-president and Charles E. Johnson, president of the Citizens State bank, treasurer.

These officers, [Stevens Photo.] with the following, will serve as directors of the association: O. A. Christian, Raymond Kimball, William S. Kline, Walter J. Rayner, Percy D. Castle, Emil F. Smits, Eugene E. Ford, Joseph E. Hitt, A. W. Tobias, J. N. Nichols and Charles N. Stevens.

FLYERS AT MERCY OF SEA LISTENED TO STORY OF HUNT

PN-9 Radio Man Tells of Long Vigil at Phones.

In the fifth installment of the thrilling story of the flight of the naval seaplane PN-9 No. 1, her chief radio operator takes up the narrative from Commander Rodgers and Lieut. Connell and describes the wireless phase of the adventure which at one time threatened death to the five intrepid aviators, but resulted in their rescue after nine days of real peril. Here is Rodman Stantz's part of the story.]

BY OTIS G. STANTZ,
(Chief Radioman Seaplane PN-9 No. 1.)

CHAPTER V.

[This article is written with my full authority and contains an authentic account of this phase of the flight.—John Rodgers, Commander.]

[Copyright: 1925, by The Chicago Tribune and The New York Times.]

HONOLULU, Sept. 17.—The antenna used in aircraft consists of approximately 300 feet of copper wire which is "reeled in" on a metal reel. Sufficient altitude was attained by 2:15 p. m. to start "reeling out" antenna and tests were begun. The compass stations comprising the San Francisco group reported that they were ready to give us fixed position reports at any time.

Our first fixed bearing was transmitted by the naval radio station at San Francisco. At this time our latitude was 37.23 degrees north, longitude 123.17 degrees west. This position was quickly checked and the station was notified to repeat it every fifteen minutes. Arrangements were made before taking off that each plane would work on the compass, and the other plane was heard obtaining bearings at the time prescribed for their communication work.

Signals First Station Ship.

Now that everything was going smoothly with the compass stations, I attempted to establish communication with the first station ship, which was the Winnipeg. William Jones reported the signal strength of the plane to be good and asked if we wanted a bearing at that time. I replied that we did and started to test in order they might swing their compass coil on us and get bearings. A bearing was obtained and was found to be very good. We were still in the air and the PN-9 plane was not using its radio on schedules which had been assigned to it. Upon inquiry, the Winnipeg replied that it had not sighted No. 2 and asked whether we had seen the plane since leaving the Golden Gate. We informed the Winnipeg's we had not, but thought the plane was flying low and would not use its radio because of that fact.

We continued to obtain bearings at regular intervals from the compass stations and from the station ships, but became very anxious concerning the whereabouts of plane No. 3. At 6 o'clock the first destroyer reported passing both planes.

Since everything was going so smoothly, I decided I would have a little lunch and began to investigate the rations aboard. I discovered several oranges and several thermos bottles containing coffee. I ate an orange and drank two cups of coffee at this time (about 6:30).

Gets Bearings Every Fifteen Minutes.

I again asked for more bearings, which continued to be very satisfactory and communication at this time was established with the second station ship. Tests were made with that ship to ascertain the correctness of its compass bearings. These bearings also checked correctly. This routine was followed continually—at least one bearing every fifteen minutes—during the entire night.

I did not become sleepy or drowsy, but quite frequently I drank coffee. Bowlin was acting mechanic during the night, and he and I frequently exchanged "signs" indicating our gladness that everything was O. K.

In the meantime we had received a

NEW HAWAII FLIGHT AWAITS ALTERATIONS IN AIRPLANE PB-1

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(UPI)—No further attempt to make a nonstop flight from California to Hawaii will be made before January, Secretary Wilbur announced today.

The seaplane PB-1, with which it is planned to make the flight, has been ordered sent back to the factory at Seattle from San Francisco for modifications in its engines based on recent tests and lessons learned from the performance of the PN-9 planes in their unsuccessful flights.

"We still have the wind and the flight to the Hawaiian Islands with this plane," Mr. Wilbur said, but he did not say definitely that the flight would be attempted. The plane's capacity had been demonstrated, he added, and it was probable a flight to the islands would be attempted after the alterations have been made and surface craft are available to act as station to wait, and several times after waiting she would tell me to test again. I became rather angry once or twice and asked her what in the world was wrong.

One time I stated that if we had to make a landing in the rough seas we'd go down. It might mean goodnight for us. At another time I stated her for they were in the rains. At this time we were passing through a little squall. She replied no, it was not raining where she was.

The gas situation appeared to be getting serious and I notified the Arroostook that we were now using the last gas, which was in the gravity tanks, and we might land at any minute, and to throw her closer to a water tank.

Finally both motors stopped. Pope motioned to me to "reel in," to which I motioned "no."

"Landing, Landing, Landing."

I continued to send "landing, landing, landing" until the antenna hit the water.

Pope kept punching me and motioning for me to hold on. We expected to hit pretty hard and distance quite a bit. But such was the case that the surface landing was made.

The standard radio equipment of this type of plane consists, in addition to the regular apparatus, of a kite. This kite is carried so that when a plane lands at sea the antenna may be attached to it and it will carry the wire into the water pulling the plane to a good antenna.

Just as our landing I thought of this kite, and Bowlin and I hoisted it, hoping it would serve as a means of identification to any ships that might be across the horizon.

Upon landing all of us had lunch, which consisted of many oranges and coffee for me, but in a very flat taste it seemed to be a terrible sandwich.

I had to turn in and have a little rest. I took my seat cushion, laid it on the deck underneath the radio set, used it as a pillow, and went to sleep.

Instead of a nice, comfortable mattress my bed consisted of the metallic floor boards, and in order to lie down I had to sort of wrap myself around the gas tanks. The other members of the crew also lay down to rest a while.

Kite Signal Is Lost.

I awoke about 6 o'clock that evening feeling very bad. I climbed up to the side where I could get air and tried to "feed the fish." I glanced up to see that the kite was flying but it was gone. I asked Bowlin what had happened to it and he remarked that it had taken a nose dive and was gone.

The crew was up and about the house.

We discussed various subjects and everybody took it for granted that we would find that night or in the morning. We talked of how we would "fix in" after they had found us and we had obtained gas. I didn't feel so good, so crawled back into the radio cockpit and went to sleep again.

At midnight I woke up, stuck my

HAWAIIAN FLYERS GREETED AS HEROES IN SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—(UPI)—The crew of the PN-9 No. 1 came back to the starting point of their historic adventure today, wind and sun tanned, buoyant and ready to do it all over again.

Smoothly Commander Rodgers and his men, Lieut. Byron J. Connell, and Skiles R. Pope, pilot, Ottis M. Stantz, and W. H. Hart, machinist, received the heroes of the city after disembarking from the battle ship Idaho, which brought them from Honolulu.

They were placed at the head of a procession up Market street to the city hall while lusty voiced hollers and flowers and bouquets gave them a stirring welcome.

The great rotunda of the city hall had been turned into a rainbow of flags, flowers and bouquets for the heroes, given the city's formal welcome.

The flyers will leave Saturday morning on the Overland Limited and will reach Chicago at 8:35 a. m. Tuesday.

Moldy Bread "Toast."

We still had trouble this day, most of the meals consisting of the pieces of bread which had been left over from the sandwiches. Lieut. Connell insisted this was toast. Even after it was moldy, he would smile and ask us to have a piece of toast.

But I couldn't find any oranges. The only thing I wanted was an orange, and about dark I wanted one so badly that I took a flashlight and looked over the plane for some orange peelings. I found one and this I had to half way satisfy my desire, but after eating I again got pale under the gills.

We stood watching again that night and our hopes were still high of being picked up in the morning. Quite often during the night while I was awake I would notice the commander "shouting the stars."

The next morning the sea was quite calm and I was up early and feeling fine. The only other person up at this time was Lieut. Connell. We talked about how easy it would be to take the plane off, and Lieut. Connell stated that he intended to fly up and in as quick as we could get gas.

A little later in the day the sea became choppy and we talked of removing the fabric from the lower wings.

Throughout the night we hoped still high, but we didn't talk so much.

All of us were on the alert, looking for lights from ships, but nothing was sighted.

Sight a Mechanician.

Early the next morning I was awoken by the talk of Bowlin and Pope. They had sighted a ship. I got up behind me and sure enough, he also counted the topmost of a ship just across the horizon. All of us were sure she was one of the searching ships and preparations were immediately begun to signal and to attract their attention.

Lieut. Connell and Bowlin climbed up on the top wing so that they might get a better view of the ship, just across the horizon, and ascertain which ship she might be. I manned the radio.

I listened for signals and I tried to raise the radio by tapping the grid leak of the receiver. The ship remained in sight, but just over the horizon, about two hours, but we could not make it see us. Later we found this was a commercial steamer. It was decided then and there that we must rig up a radio transmitter of some sort.

Efforts to Rig Transmitter.

Preparations were made to remove the starter of the port motor, in an effort to get into communication with the outside world again. Early in the morning on the radio generator we tried again and again the various combinations of wires, but we were not successful, but they always slipped. It was suggested that we try to catch fish, as the emergency ration was running low. The crackers were gone and the canned meat was getting strong and salty. I copied various messages. Either Bowlin or myself was on watch almost continually. Each time I would copy a message we would rush to the commander and watch him plot the positions of the ships searching for us.

All of us said: "If we sail long enough we'll get in so close to shore they'll find us one of these days before they turn back."

I had entirely recovered from my seasickness, but was beginning to feel weak. That night I was almost sure that I could see searchlights beam in the sky, and kept watching. Finally, instead of seeing light, the moon broke through clouds.

We decided that day that it would be useless to continue our efforts to use the radio generator to supply power for the transmitter, and it was suggested that the transmitter be disassembled to obtain the loading coils, condensers, and parts necessary to construct a spark transmitter.

Able to S.O.S. at last.

I got ready to send out the first S.O.S. and pressed the key. Bowlin touched the antenna finger to see if "she's putting out." A big spark seemed to reach out and meet his finger. He declared then and there that she was "putting out." I continued to send S.O.S. signals every few minutes. Each stated our position and drift. One message we received stated we should pound the hull so the submarines would hear us. I thought Pope and Bowlin were going to pound a hole in the bottom of the ship, but still no submarines heard us.

Quite frequently during the next few days, when everything was quiet, I suddenly would hear some one sounding the hull. Often at night I wake and think about that pounding the hull and hunt for my old hammer and start pounding myself. Some one pounded so hard they broke the handle of the hammer.

Lost Track of the Days.

From that time on it was just like one long day. We lost track of the days. One day, searching through the spare parts box, I came across a picture of my kiddies. It made me feel very badly. I looked at the picture and said, "I wonder why the submarine and destroyers couldn't find us, but in a little while I cheered up again, listening to the commander telling about a man who hung on to log in the sea for ten days and was still able to yell for help when a ship went by.

I continued trying out new radio equipment. I became alarmed and worried about how long the battery would last. I continued to listen in and I believe I received everything of importance that was sent out. I knew what ships were going for fuel, what ships were relieving. I knew practically the position of each scouting line.

Heard Plane Using Own Call.

Every day for several days we received reports of planes looking for us. Once, about two days before we were found, we heard a plane using the call which had been assigned to us. I first thought it was a dream. Later I discovered that the plane from Ladd Field was sending messages being sent from the Langley.

One of us said: "If we sail long enough we'll get in so close to shore they'll find us one of these days before they turn back."

I had entirely recovered from my seasickness, but was beginning to feel weak. That night I was almost sure that I could see searchlights beam in the sky, and kept watching. Finally, instead of seeing light, the moon broke through clouds.

MONOPOLY LAID
AT MELLON DOOR

Charge Aired
by Federal Board.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special] Practices designed to lessen competition and create a monopoly in aluminum and its manufactured products are charged against the Aluminum Company of America in a complaint public today by the federal commission.

The complaint states that the commission's investigation into practices of business conducted in response to a Senate resolution. The commission's report was made public during the present session of Congress last year and the investigation on the part of the corporation, inasmuch as Secretary of Treasury Mellon is credited with being the controlling factor in the case of the Aluminum company.

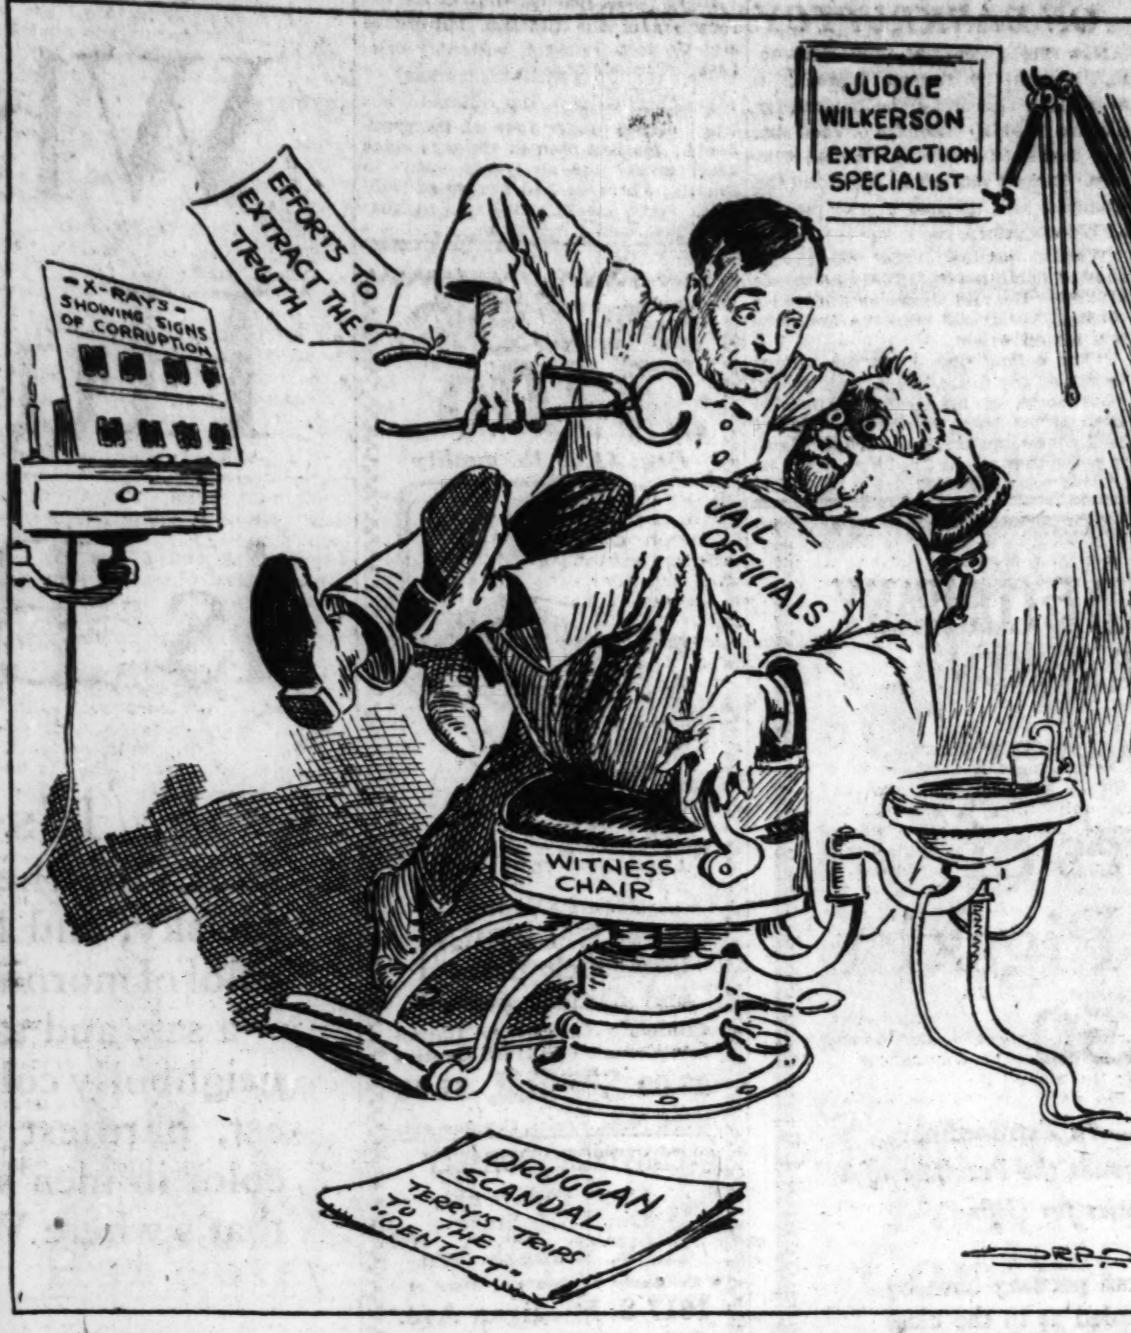

Company Denies Monopoly. The Aluminum Company of America is answer to the complaint denies that any of its practices could or do in any way affect upon competition or in any way to create a monopoly. The answer and complaint were read publicly under the direction of the present commissioners of the commission. The hearing dated July 21, but was suspended awaiting the answer of the company.

Complaint sets forth that the Aluminum Company of America is the producer of virgin aluminum in the United States and since 1922 has produced over 95 per cent of the virgin sheet aluminum manufactured in this country.

Group of Big Companies Alleged. It is asserted that the company owns 75 per cent of the stock of the Aluminum Manufacturing company, manufacturer of aluminum casting materials, and 100 per cent of the stock of the United States Aluminum company, the second largest; 75 per cent of the stock in the American Zinc company, which manufactures aluminum bodies for automobiles; 64 per cent of the stock of the Aluminum Manufacturers, Inc., which makes sand castings for automobile parts; 89 per cent of the stock of the Aluminum Die Casting Corporation, and 80 per cent of the stock of the Aluminum Screw Products company, besides more than 50 other corporations.

HERRIN MAYOR ASKS KLAN TO CALL OFF PARADE

Herrin, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Mayor Marshal McCormick today made public a letter to Gale Carter of Springfield, Ill., grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, requesting him in the interest of peace and harmony to recall orders for a Klan parade here Saturday night. Carter replied he would take up the matter with the mayor when he arrived Saturday.

For the last two years Herrin has been the scene of hatred, envy, and strife, tunnel, riots and bloodshed, the mayor wrote. "Fortunately we are now quiet, with all past being forgotten. This has taken much time, thought, and effort to bring our citizens to the understanding they now possess in regard to their fellow citizens. We hope factionalism such as disgraced the name of our city will never be wished on any other community."

"I have canvassed the situation regarding your Klan meeting and find it is renewing old feelings and I am frank to tell you that a parade would not do our city any good at the present time, and I feel that it may result in more outbreaks in our city."

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS HOLT AND CLARA AS KILLERS

"some," said nothing when they read him that he was charged with helping to murder the woman whose mid-chauncel romance had terminated so tragically four days ago. Attorney Joseph Katz of Chicago, his counsel, stepped up to him, whispered a word in his ear, Holt nodded and refused to talk.

Holt was then informed that his bonds had been raised from $5,000 to $10,000. He signed his own bond and walked out of the courtroom, to await the finding of the grand jury which meets Oct. 5.

In this evening of seriousness, minutes of comedy patchworked themselves. For instance there were Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Horning, a bride and groom in their wedding attire, friends giving them a shower toilet in their honeymoon flat at 739 Irving Park boulevard, just across the hall from the Harcq apartment, but at 6 o'clock this evening George Har- graves, a Chicago detective, brought them out to Col. Smith to have them testify to the quarrel between Clara and her husband, which they heard from him.

Col. Smith decided not to put them on at this time, but they were compelled to wait in the courtroom. Every few minutes friends telephoned impa- sioned pleas to court officials asking that the newlyweds be permitted to forget subpoenae and come home to the party.

Then there was Joe Riggs, the marshal of Fox Lake. The six jurors recalled him to the stand tonight os- tensibly to go over some of the testimony he had given last night, really it seemed, to give him a gentle bawling out for his method of procedure Sun- day night when he came to the scene of the tragedy.

" Didn't you take any steps to find out who did the shooting?" Juryman Hardin asked.

" Well, now, I can't just exactly say," Riggs replied and let it go at that. But Juryman Grady wasn't satisfied.

" Now, Mr. Riggs," and his voice was stern, " you know perfectly well whether or not you did your duty and tried to find out if a murder had been committed."

That was like a cold bath to the hitherto apathetic Mr. Riggs. He sat up straight and answered loud:

" Yes, I certainly did."

Then he told how he had called the coroner almost immediately and added, proudly, that he had brought the coroner "to come right over, and not wait for a cup of coffee, for something has happened."

RAIL KEYMEN OF TWO ROADS ASK PAY INCREASES

Officials of the Order of Railway Telegraphers yesterday filed a petition with the United States railroad board asking for a wage increase on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Chicago, Great Western railroads. The union representatives also asked for a revision of rules for telegraphers employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

The labor board decided to cite Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway system, before the federal adjustment board for his services in failing to comply with a board's decision.

For another, the switchmen's union or trainmen's organization should step the regular switchmen on that road the railroad labor board conducted an election, which was won by the regular switchmen's union.

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The ac- tion brought by Samuel Russell, a creditor, contesting the bankruptcy petition filed by Leonard Wood Jr., was dismissed today by Referee Clifford. Russell was not in court and the dismissal was granted at the request of Wood's attorney.

Wood's petition, filed Sept. 10, sought liquidation of $14,585 and assets of $949. He was in financial difficulties through theatrical ventures and now is a fiction writer.

"For a long time I did my utmost to pay off my debts," Wood said today, "but some of my creditors insisted upon terms that were impossible. I took advantage of the bankruptcy laws in order that all my creditors would be treated equally well."

HARMONING AUTO KILLS WOMAN; FLEES; CAUGHTTwo Others Die in Day's Motor Accidents.(Stories on back page.)
A woman died in Crawford avenue at Edgewater last night, a speeding automobile containing a man and two others, one of whom was killed, and a man, 61 years old, 1629 North Marion Avenue. The car did not stop suddenly.

At 10:30 p.m. police arrested Robert Lewis, 30 years old, 2345 West Marion street; Mrs. Mabel Reiss, 22 years old, and Miss Helen Wieslawski, 21 years old, in front of the women's room at 1215 Washington boulevard. They were occupying the automobile of the same type that killed the woman.

William La Rue, 23 years old, was driving his cab in front of that of his friend, Earl Williams, 21 years old. Both lived at 936 Leland avenue. La Rue's cab was hailed by a man. He stopped suddenly and William's cab crashed into his car. La Rue's cab was hurled twenty feet against an electric light pole and William's cab was overturned. William was found dead in the wreckage. La Rue, unconscious, was taken to the American hospital.

Alex Skoglund, 47 years old, 1417 Edgewater street, apparently intoxicated, according to the police report, was standing near the curb at Clark and Rosemont streets. An automobile driven by E. Rigo, 7516 Parkhurst street, passed by. Skoglund stumbled forward and fell under a rear wheel, receiving fatal injuries.

Two boys riding a motorcycle in River Forest last night were seriously injured when the machine collided with a Lake street trolley car. They are Robert Timme, 16 years old, 147 South Ashland avenue, River Forest, and Frank Blake, 16 years old, 1123 Ontario street, Oak Park.

Two other boys, 14 and 15 years old, were seriously injured when they were struck by an automobile driven by a man, 25 years old, in front of the women's room at 1215 Washington boulevard.

Two taxi drivers, intimate friends of roommates, were participants in a traffic crash in front of 4014 Broadway. One was killed and the other so

Parachute Fails to Work; Flyer Seriously Injured
Failure of his parachute to open properly after he had leaped from an airplane 3,600 feet above the ground yesterday resulted in serious injuries for the Masked Flyer, a commercial aviator at the Morton Grove flying field. The flyer, said to be an army veteran, would give no other name than the professional one. At the Evanston hospital, where he was taken it was discovered that he had suffered internal injuries.

FACTS IN THE REAPPORITIONMENT FIGHT.

Major Dever's committee of 200, called to lead the fight for legislative reapportionment of the state, is laying its lines for the coming struggle. While the preparations are going on we should like to offer one bit of gratuitous advice.

This is to have done with talk about the academic injustice of the senatorial district ratio, which gives Cook county only 19 districts out of 51, when she ought to have 25, and to give the citizens of Cook county the solid facts. It is time for facts. It is time to have done with appeals to fairness.

It is time to have done with protests and appeals to the emotions. Give Cook county facts and the emotions will follow without any appeal.

The mayor's committee might dig back into ancient history a little and recall to Chicagoans Yerkes, the Grey Wolves, and the Allen bill of 1897, which all but succeeded in giving the street car franchises into the perpetual ownership of the predatory interests. Downstate legislators were responsible for that danger to Chicago. Who knows when they may care to repeat?

The committee might bring home to residents of Cook county the facts about their taxes. Cook county's annual tax bill represents something like 60 per cent of the tax bill of the entire state. Her representation in the legislature is 37.25 per cent. The records of the state auditor show that the taxes extended in 1923 for Cook county totalled $15,461,444, while the total for all the rest of the state was only $17,504,782.

Quoting from an article by Oscar Hewitt, in which he discusses Cook county's share of city, county, district school, levee and drainage, and park taxes levied in the state, we learn: "The total of the taxes collected in 1924 was $285,677. 48. Of that aggregate Cook county's part was $172,459,415. This is 59.74 per cent of the total, compared with 57 per cent in 1923. For several years Cook county's percentage of the total has been increasing, so that it is reasonably certain that this year Cook county is paying more than 60 per cent of the total direct property taxes collected in Illinois, although its percentage of specific state taxes, levied for state purposes only, is not so large."

The official records show that Cook county paid 77.64 per cent of the inheritance taxes collected for the year ending July 1, 1924. It is estimated that Cook county pays approximately 50 per cent of the corporation fees. Insurance fees, although they are not segregated as to counties, are reported to follow about the same ratio as the corporation fees.

Cook county furnished $4,145,000 of the $11,546,000 collected in automobile license fees in 1924. On this basis she should have had 1,600 miles of the paved hard roads which Illinois enjoyed at the end of the year. Instead Cook county had 242 miles.

These are some of the facts.

The legislature controls Chicago's public utilities. It tells Chicagoans what taxes they must pay. It controls insurance companies. It licenses professional men. It retains control of the Lincoln park board and the west park board in the hands of a downstate governor. It may alter the methods of popular election. That control also represents a danger, a danger that legislators whose political fate is not affected may play with the interests of a community not theirs because of the rewards there are in the game.

It becomes increasingly intolerable that an illegal majority of downstate legislators should require Cook county. Give Cook county proper representation; then let them regulate if they want to.

MILWAUKEE IS PART OF THE NORTHWEST SIDE.

In another column on this page will be found excerpts from an editorial in the Milwaukee Journal taking us to task for speaking of Milwaukee as Chicago's principal suburb. We had commented upon the report of government engineers attributing only a small share of the responsibility for lowering the lake level to the drainage canal. We had said that Milwaukee's welfare was not independent of Chicago's; and we had expressed the hope that the government report would encourage Milwaukee to behave as if Chicago's welfare was a matter of some concern even to Milwaukeeans. We seem to have annoyed them.

We wonder why. It must be obvious to any one to whom geography is more than an exercise in political boundaries that economically Chicago and Milwaukee are one. We expect that Milwaukee opinion would not hesitate to say that Gary is part of Chicago for most useful purposes. To any one who has contemplated the rapid development of the above towns northward and southward from Chicago the similarity must be apparent. We are all one community here at the southern end of the lake. The prosperity of one part is the prosperity of all the parts. The political boundaries are more of less annoying fiction.

The Milwaukee Journal thinks of Chicago as Tomas Deuter of the northwest side thinks of the loop. The loop exists for Mr. Deuter only as a region of the northeast. He has done his best to obstruct the improvement of transportation facilities for the million who enter and leave the business district every day. He seems unaware of the unity of the city; just so, the Milwaukee Journal seems unaware of the unity of the entire Chicago region. With this narrowness found within the city limits, we must not be surprised at a lack of breadth among some of the residents of the metropolitan area.

We do not know if Milwaukee people prefer to think of themselves as citizens of the thirteenth city when they might think of themselves as citizens of the second city, the geographical capital of the country. That, however, is their concern. What is of far greater importance to them and to us is the fact that flow through the drainage canal is necessary if the gulf waterway is to become a reality. When that is achieved Milwaukee may not call herself Chicago's principal suburb. Tomay may still tilt at the loop windmill, but we have no doubt that both will be content to reap a share of the profit.

SECRETARY HOOVER VIEWS THE FUTURE OF AVIATION.

The secretary of commerce was a suggestive and valuable witness before the aeronautics inquiry board on Wednesday and we hope his constructive proposals will have early and favorable action by congress. Secretary Hoover was optimistic regarding the future of commercial flying in our country. Europe, he admitted, was somewhat ahead of us at present but he believes we shall outdistance them if airplane companies are given proper support. Our vast expanse of country, unbroken by national boundaries, he thinks is in our favor. So, too, is our "intensive and widespread commerce." The exchange of goods between our Atlantic and Pacific states is greater than the exchange between any two countries of Europe. We travel more and we send more letters through the mails. There is thus a more ample field for exploitation. Mr. Hoover thinks that in our country cash subsidies such as are universal for commercial aviation in Europe will not be required.

He believes, however, and we agree with him, that our government ought to assist in other ways. The government, he thinks, should establish a bureau of aviation to serve commercial flying as other bureaus serve the merchant marine. Landing fields should be under government supervision as ports are; planes should be examined for safety as are ships; pilots should be licensed as are ship's officers. Routes should be charted through the air as they are now charted by the hydrographic bureau at sea; lighthouses should be maintained to help the flyer as they help the sailor. All these services are essentially governmental because they are at once everybody's business and nobody's business.

On the other hand, Mr. Hoover is definitely opposed to operation by the government of the mail planes. He is a firm believer in private enterprise. Mr. Hoover estimates that 80 per cent of the airmail receipts, if turned over to private companies, would be sufficient to enable them to carry on.

The opinion that superior children are one kind is a myth. There are superior children who are fools and incapable along other lines than those of intelligence. PRECOCIOUS CHILDREN.

HERE is a notion that the very bright children, the valedictorians and the near valedictorians, are feeble minded, neareighted, bookworms. Dr. Terman and his associates do not think so. After closely studying nearly 2,000 selected very bright children in California schools, Terman gives this opinion:

In the nationality groupings, the Jewish children are all others, having an excess of 100 per cent over the average.

Negroes, Indians and Latins made poor averages.

Racial admixtures, such as Chinese-American, Japanese-American, showed up very well.

The states of the Union in which the parents and grandparents were born were given, but birth ratings are not given, because the total school population on the basis of race was not discovered.

The health of the superior child was somewhat better than that of the average child.

More than one-half of the superior children had had their tonsils out as compared with one-quarter of the control groups.

TEETH BEHIND TIME.

Mrs. A. F. writes: My baby is 17 months old and as yet has no teeth. When she was 15 months old I asked my physician about it and he told me not to worry because the later children cut teeth the better. Now please tell me what you have heard.

In a group of superior children, selected with reference to the number of boys will exceed the number of girls.

This disproportion is greater than the disproportion between the birth rates of boys and girls.

In selecting a group of superior high school children, it will be found that the number of boys is greater than the number of girls. The disproportion in height of superior groups is greater than it is in the grammar schools.

This raises the question, "Does the development of the mind of the female of the species stop earlier than that of the mind of the male?"

The opinion that superior children are one kind is a myth. There are superior children who are fools and incapable along other lines than those of intelligence. The proportion of superior children to average children is greater than it is among the ordinary children.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—To the Legal Friend of the People.—Could something be done about the telephone poles on our lot? One is in the alley, about two feet from the boundary and directly in front of our house. The other is in the front yard, and this one is a real pest because it is rotting at the base and sometimes a strong wind will topple it over. This pole has no wires and is seemingly of no value.

MENS SANA IN CORPORE SANO.

In the midst of murder chronicles, a jail scandal, a climbing automobile fatality list, a state reappportionment struggle, traffic congestion problems and harbor controversies, we find two bright spots in the day's news. One is the second annual report of Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew. The other is the prediction by Commissioner of Health Herman N. Bundesen that Chicago will occupy second place in the health rating of ten principal cities in the United States.

We had almost fallen into a gloom dependency over the state of the schools. Dr. McAndrew tells us they are in better shape than in many years.

He notes increased efficiency, increased harmony, and best index of all, a higher standard of scholarship.

He reports less political interference, and that should give him great satisfaction. In his first year, he declares, he had 520 requests from politicians for preference of individuals. Last year he had five.

All's right with part of the world anyway.

BREWERS SEEK 2.75 BEER; INVITE AID OF TEMPERANCE BODIES

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The United States Brewers' association today announced inauguration of "an open and honorable fight to legalize the manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer."

It invited "civic bodies concerned in promotion of temperance to join us in legalizing the sale of non-intoxicating malt beverages." No such body was mentioned by name.

The resignation of Christian Fehrenbach, president of the British Temperance Union, the United States, the more purposeful attitude becomes.

The state department, finding itself at odds with the administration over its action in barring Shapurji Saklatvala's visa to come to the meeting of the interparliamentary union here next week, has agreed to justify itself by showing that even if the Foreign minister had been allowed to reach our shores he would have been stopped dead back by the immigration office of the department of labor.

Three months ago a dozen Russian agricultural experts came in. About half of them were communists, according to the Skvirsky agency, but they were not stopped by the immigration authorities.

500 in U. S. It Is Admitted.

The department of labor, moreover, admits that there are not less than 500 aliens now at large in the country. Several years ago the department released 80 Russian communists and allowed them to enter the country because it was found not feasible to deport them to Russia and no other country would receive them. So they were allowed to come in because they could not be detained indefinitely on Ellis Island.

Yet, according to the secretary of labor, a communist is not admissible, and if found here, under the law, must be deported.

Only One Answer.

"The question, 'Can a communist be admitted to the United States?' can receive only one answer from the secretary of labor," Davis' statement says. "The law is plain and unequivocal that aliens who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence, not alone of the government of the United States but of organized government, must be excluded, and that membership or affiliation with any organization having such object is cause for exclusion and deportation."

"So much for the exclusion of communists; another section of the law provides that on the same grounds the secretary of labor shall by warrant of arrest take into custody and deport aliens with similar beliefs or affiliations found in the United States. This is true even of aliens previously lawfully admitted, unless one does not have these tendencies or affiliations at the time of arrival but acquires them while in the United States."

"Many aliens, members of the communist party of America, have been deported and are being deported whenever their presence in this country comes to the notice of immigration authorities. American citizens, of course, whether of foreign or native birth, cannot be deported on any ground, so that the law above quoted applies only to aliens—persons not born in the United States nor naturalized if foreign born."

MAN IN KNICKERS TAKES HONORS AS MAJOR GENERAL

Brig. Gen. Benjamin A. Poore, commander at Fort Sheridan, was playing golf at the Old Elm club yesterday when his aide dashed up to inform him that a telegram announcing his promotion to major generalship had just arrived.

"All right," the general said.

Then he continued his game with Frank Reed, president of the First National bank of Lake Forest. When he reached the reservation, however, the band and a cavalry detachment were awaiting him. A salute of thirteen guns was fired.

The appointment to the higher rank became effective on Oct. 1. No intimation has been received as to where Maj. Gen. Poore will be stationed.

Canadian Rancher, Friend of Prince of Wales, Dies

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 24.—(AP)—George MacLennan, Alberta pioneer and owner of the Bar-U ranch, died suddenly today at the ranch. He was a friend of the Prince of Wales.

Misses Concentrate on Their Fall Wardrobes The Coats, Luxuriously Rich

Gorgeous colors—deep wine red, for example—fabrics thick and soft, furs generously applied make fall Coats exceptionally attractive. Sketched left, a montebello Coat with wolf; in blue, brown, black, gray, $87.50. The Kashorette Coat with squirrel, beaver or silver fitch in cuckoo, blue, brown, black, $125.

The Suits Often Flare Doubly

In many cases both coat and frock of costume Suits have flares of their own. The Suit sketched shows a carmina coat, gracefully flaring, and a frock of carmina and flat crepe which has the Chanel plaited front; blue, brown, purple, green, black, $110.

Silk Frocks Unique in Detail

The general lines of Frocks are much the same but individuality comes from such intriguing details as applique of puffed velvet on the flaring skirt of the Frock at left; burgundy, green, blue, cocoa, black, $55; charming bolero of satin back crepe, navy, green, wine, cuckoo, black, $45. Sizes 14 to 20.

Misses' Frocks, Sixth Floor, North, State

Women's Dresses Accent Newer Lines, $27.50

At this very attractive price you can find silk Dresses on the most advanced lines of fall. The black crepe Elizabeth, center, is over crepe in pansy or pencil blue; also cuckoo over tan or wine. The flare is important in the satin crepe, left. The third Dress has wide sleeves embroidered and beaded. $27.50.

cially until the Dawes plan reaches its full yield of a minimum of $2,500,000,000 marks, of which France's half share would amount to about $210,000,000 annually.

"This will enable her to cover her foreign engagements and retire gradually the hundred billions of francs she advanced for the reconstruction of the devastated regions, and thus reduce her internal debt. But France's anxiety is that Germany may not consent to indefinitely to execute her reparations engagements under the Dawes plan."

Little Latvian Debt.

Despite the setback received from the unsatisfactory French offer this morning, the debt funders disposed of one problem—the Latvian debt. Amounting to just under six million dollars, this was funded over a sixty-year period, the initial payments being scaled down so small as scarcely to be visible to the naked eye and then the delegates were back to their dealings with the big customer—France.

Students of economics ask how M. Caillaux can borrow hundreds of millions of dollars at approximately 7 percent interest from Wall street to aid him to meet payments of the war debt obligations, which are drawing in the neighborhood of 3 per cent.

A Political Move.

"The answer to the problem is political, not financial." THE TRIBUNE writes, implying by a member of the French delegation that France's internal fiscal situation must be saved by protecting the franc. She must be tided over the next four or five years, especially.

Pictures War Aid.

M. Caillaux went back to "the splendid work Americans did in aid to the victorious ending of the war," and mentioned, too, the generous help of Americans in our time of need.

"Now we will go to work as practi-

Replies Mr. Mellon carefully ruled all war talk out and scarcely grudged the Dawes plan with a mention, but continued: "The creditor nation must seek adjustment and to keep good its word and to give itself time to recover its prosperity the debtors must be encouraged to do its fair share. No concern can successfully be reorganized in the face of an unfunded obligation."

"France now faces all these facts under a strong leadership," he said and nodded gravely at M. Caillaux, who beamed back, "and with the courage beamed back."

Sees Hope for France.

"The condition is not permanent and France will emerge successfully from her difficulties," Mr. Mellon continued like the doctor urging the young man to swallow the medicine. Then M. Caillaux arose again and from a large case he produced a thick document of many typed pages, apparently a document in English.

"The gentlemen, is France's offer?" he said. Mr. Mellon reached forward for the document and then following time honored custom remarked, "Gentlemen, I suggest that we adjourn this meeting until we have had

CLAIM BRITISH LABORITE TOOK $25,000 BRIBE

Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sept. 24.—London is agitated over the exposure of communist agitators among English life who have received money from Russia.

A. Purcell, a member of parliament and one of the leaders of the British trade union which visited Moscow last year, was interrogated on Dec. 29 by the committee of the trade union, of which he is a member, on an alleged receipt for $15,000 from the soviet government. Mr. Purcell said the money was his personal expense and had been paid him on the train during the trip. Faced with the charge, he said it was given to him by friends for a political cause.

George Bondfield, who was a member of the late labor ministry, bluntly denied him of being bribed by the soviets. The row became so hot that the meeting adjourned as far as London, where there will be no action by the British congress on the matter five days before the opening of the party congress at Liverpool.

Tommy MacDonald, leader of the party and former prime minister, has made a vigorous attack on communists who are seeking admittance to the party. Writing in the Forward and a Glasgow labor paper, he says admittance is impossible.

"We have their chief desire is to cover us," he said. "Their criticisms are more unscrupulous than those of our enemies."

NO LENIENCY TO FRANCE IN ARMS, BLAINE DEMANDS

MADISON, WIS., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—No debt concessions should be made to the French nation until it is pledged to stop building a greater army and navy and ceases its "barbaric" war against the Riffians, Gov. John J. Blaine said in a telegram to President Coolidge.

The governor's telegram follows:

"Caillaux, French finance minister, landed in America today seeking an extension of time for the payment of the French debt due America and a reduction of interest thereon.

"A few days ago press dispatches carried the news that France had sent a fleet of 16 airships to fight the Rifians in Africa, and France boasted that each airship dropped two tons of high explosives on the homes of Moroccans, killing defenseless men, women, and children.

France is engaged in a competitive undertaking in building larger armies and navies and extending her territories in the exploitation of weaker and smaller nations. The world is shocked at the manner in which France is making war on the mountain folks of Morocco, in the killing of noncombatants and women and children.

"Before conversations are entered on with France on the debt settlement, America should demand a halt in this ruthless warfare.

"To delay the time of payment of America's debt owing by France, as was done in the case of Great Britain, means that the American taxpayer will be burdened for the benefit of foreign governments in their pursuit of war and empire.

In the name of humanity and decency, I protest the settlement of foreign debts until America has assurances that American dollars will not be used for more war and the murdering of helpless, defenseless women and children."

NEW YORK TAKES LONDON'S PLACE; BANKS WORLD

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(UPI)—Opening of the French debt funding negotiations, with a prospective settlement likely to pave the way for a fresh flood of European loans, has directed attention to America's growing prestige as banker to the world.

Contributing to the growing power of the United States as the world's financial center has been the unofficial embargo on foreign loans in London. Foreign borrowers who previously had been accustomed to satisfying their money requirements in London have more and more had to look to this country for aid.

BERLIN ACCEPTS INVITATION TO SECURITY PARLEY

Hindenburg Settles Row
Over Peace Plan.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—[U. N.]—Germany has decided to accept the allied invitation for a conference of foreign ministers to discuss a European security treaty, but the decision was not made until after a stormy cabinet debate and revealed demands for important reservations in any security agreement.

These demands came from the nationalists, during the cabinet session yesterday. President von Hindenburg, however, composed of the differences which arose and German participation is assured in one of the most strenuous efforts toward permanent European peace which has been made since the war.

The conference probably will be held in Switzerland, beginning Oct. 5. However, the date and location is left to Germany. The main object of the gathering will be the conclusion of a Franco-German security pact, in which France and Belgium will join.

Demands on Allies.

The storm in today's cabinet session was precipitated by the insistence of nationalist members that the following reservations be discussed during the conference:

1. That Germany's entrance into the League of Nations depend on her exemption from Article 16 of the league covenant referring to the employment of armed forces.
2. That the allies must fix an early date for the evacuation of Cologne.
3. That the allies revise the Rhine regime and revoke numerous decrees in order to alleviate the occupation.
4. That the Berlin government notify the allies that Germany repudiates the charge that she alone was responsible for the war.

Government is Strong.

The nationalists' demands, made only for domestic political effect, are not expected to influence Germany's attitude at the conference, for it is known the Berlin government has agreed tacitly to the terms of the security pact. The government, moreover, considers its position at home sufficiently strong to make its policy prevail.

Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann are expected to head the German delegation to the conference, which will include Dr. Friedrich Gause, legal expert.

DENY OBJECTION BY LANSDOWNE TO FLIGHT DATE

Engine Failure Primary Crash Cause, Claim.

(Picture on back page.)

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 24.—(AP)—A much more vivid word picture of the wrecking of the airship Shenandoah than any heretofore given, together with important evidence bearing on at least one possible contributing cause of the disaster, was presented here today to the naval court of inquiry.

High lights in the day's developments were:

- Testimony of Col. C. G. Hall, U. S. observer on board, that the failure of two of the Shenandoah's engines made more probable the drawing of the ship into the vortex of the storm which wrecked it.
- Broke Before Control Car Fell. More definite testimony that the ship actually began breaking in two before the control car fell, came from Commander Zachary Lansdowne and other officers and men to their death.
- The offering of evidence that the Shenandoah began to break up when directed after a fall of nearly two thousand feet in three minutes.
- Declarations of two witnesses that Commander Lansdowne had not been reduced to make the flight at the time it was undertaken and that he voiced no dissatisfaction with the itinerary fixed by the navy department.
- While the word picture of the disaster painted by Col. Hall proved the

FLYERS TO GIVE THEIR SIDE OF CASE IN AIR INQUIRY ON MONDAY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—With the ground work of its inquiry completed through testimony by four government departments, the Presidencies board will enter a wider field of testimony when it reconvenes next Monday.

Chairman Dwight W. Morrow and several others were busy today going over statements and laying plans to hear next week from aviators themselves. Among them will be Col. William Mitchell. He is en route from Texas with 800 pounds of documentary testimony, which likely will be submitted on Tuesday.

Commander John Rodgers, commander of the P.N.A. also is likely to appear with the chief of various bureaus in the army and navy services. Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick and Rear Admiral Moffett, chiefs of the army and navy air services, respectively, also will be recalled for further questioning.

Voice Before Control Car Fell.

More definite testimony that the ship actually began breaking in two before the control car fell, came from Commander Zachary Lansdowne and other officers and men to their death.

The offering of evidence that the Shenandoah began to break up when directed after a fall of nearly two thousand feet in three minutes.

Declarations of two witnesses that Commander Lansdowne had not been reduced to make the flight at the time it was undertaken and that he voiced no dissatisfaction with the itinerary fixed by the navy department.

While the word picture of the disaster painted by Col. Hall proved the Rosendahl asserted that the Shenandoah's captain had not voiced any protest against or exhibited any reluctance to proceed on the mid-continent voyage in accordance with the navy department's order.

"The only objection Commander Lansdowne made," Rosendahl said, "was a casual remark that it was too bad that the Shenandoah had not been able to make the trip during the ten days immediately preceding because of the fine weather existing during that period." In response to a similar question by Capt. Foley, Col. Hall said:

"Shortly after the attempt of the Los Angeles to make the Minneapolis flight, Commander Lansdowne told me he understood that when the Shenandoah was to undertake the flight. He said there was none, adding that the department often has been anxious to go then it would be found ready to take it, then, that was in July, but that if the department wanted the flight made and would wait until the latter part of the summer or the early autumn the Shenandoah could make it without difficulty.

Itinerary Was Satisfactory.

Both Commander Rosendahl and Col.

Hall testified that Lansdowne had made to them, no protest against the itinerary proposed by the navy department, and the former told the ship captain he understood fully the reasons why the department decided upon the time in which the craft set out on Sept. 2.

Responding to a question as to whether there was any reluctance on the part of any of the officers or crew to making the flight, Rosendahl said there was none, adding that the department often has been anxious to go then it would be found ready to take it, then, that was in July, but that if the department wanted the flight made

AIR CONTROVERSY STILL DIVIDES BRITISH OPINION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 24.—British naval men are divided on the question of the relative value of airplanes and battleships, and there is no generalized of any agreement for long time. The air force, which is independent of both the army and navy, of course, is an enthusiastic protagonist of air power, but since the death of Admiral Sir Percival Scott, the naval controversy has died down. Sir Percival conducted a campaign in the press and on the platform, always concluding his letters and speeches with the question: "What is the use of the battleship?" and the answer, "No damned use at all."

The bulk of naval opinion still be-Heves, however, that the battleship is not satisfactory, on the whole. It has eliminated the waste in purchasing, training, and staffing which existed when there were really three forces,

(Advertisement.) THE TRUTH ABOUT HOSIERY

How to get more for your money.
How to make comparisons.
A way to save 25%.

Mrs. Grandon said, as she and Mrs. Spencer passed a shop window filled with gorgeous hosiery: "I wish I knew how to solve this puzzling problem of buying the right hosiery."

"Is it ever possible to solve it?" Mrs. Spencer asked.

"It seems utterly hopeless to me," Mrs. Grandon replied.

This is typical of the attitude of thousands upon thousands of women. Some keep searching for information... some simply give in.

Yet there are a few simple facts which will guide one, which will save money, yet with no sacrifice to either style or luxury.

First, you should analyze the claims made for different hosiery and learn a few simple ways of comparison.

The claim of "pure silk" can be made by any one. However, a claim is not always a truth. The sole insurance you have that the hosiery you buy is pure silk, is the name and fame of the manufacturer.

If it is a long established firm with a reputation to maintain, you can be absolutely sure that the claim of pure silk is entirely separate question.

"Pure dyes" is another factor that means much to you. If dyes are not pure the fabric will rot and the life of the hosiery will be shortened.

Furthermore, there is a common practice of "loading" or "weighting" hosiery which gives it a false impression of weight. Merely heaviness is not an indication of quality. Kayser hosiery is never weighted.

You can easily learn how to detect the genuine full fashioned hosiery and the imitation. Genuine full fashioned has a seam which runs from the toe tip to top of stocking.

The imitation is merely the old-fashioned tubular hose with a fake seam running up the back. After the first washing it loses its shape-twisting and wrinkling around the ankle in loose folds.

The genuine full fashioned is knit to conform to the shape of the leg and insures perfect neatness and style.

When the name "Kaiser" is on hosiery, it is a guarantee of 100% full fashioned; 100% pure silk; 100% pure dyes.

When you buy hosiery just say: "Kaiser's, please," and you will save yourself not only from disappointment, but you will save yourself from extravagance.

Kayser offers the latest in colors and tints. In sheerness and beauty. None of these need be sacrificed to attain long wear.

But some sheerness has strength from proper knitting. Some lacks strength.

Through a clever Kayser invention the annoyance of "runs" is prevented. This is called the Marvel Stripe... a series of knotted loops below the knee—barely noticeable. And yet it is extremely effective, and is guaranteed to prevent garter runs from continuing.

Look for the Slipper Heel. It is gracefully shaped to a narrow point and accentuates the slender lines of the ankle. This is a style feature which every woman appreciates.

Every woman should consider hosiery as a staple article. Do not be misled by pretty pictures. Costly art does not insure long wear in hosiery. Do not be led astray by hysterical claims. There is nothing magical nor exclusive to honest manufacture.

For every four pair of ordinary hosiery, women tell us, only three pairs of Kayser's are needed. This is a saving of 25%.

Are you interested in saving 25¢ out of every dollar you spend on hosiery?

How many pairs of hosiery are you buying today? What would your saving be if you adopted Kayser's?

Your hosiery allowance will tell the story.

LEAGUE TO S MOSUL OUTS OF CHRIST

RAYMOND FEN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 24.—(AP)—There were demands in the league on the Mosul case.

On the request of the council held yesterday under the chairmanship of Louis Loucheur, a proposal to send a shop window filled with gorgeous hosiery: "I wish I knew how to solve this puzzling problem of buying the right hosiery."

"Is it ever possible to solve it?" Mrs. Spencer asked.

"It seems utterly hopeless to me," Mrs. Grandon replied.

This is typical of the attitude of thousands upon thousands of women. Some keep searching for information... some simply give in.

Yet there are a few simple facts which will guide one, which will save money, yet with no sacrifice to either style or luxury.

After an hour of argument, British member of the council finally pinned down the question: "I ask the delegate to permit the commission to carry out the investigation north of the line."

Refuses to Permit

Despite the fact that still claims to be the authority of the dispute, Tewfik opened to permit the commission to investigate the alleged atrocities. And, in doing so, he refused to admit that the territory on the Tigris was not contested, that of atrocities resolved itself a Turkish domestic question, and finally he had no desire to discuss what he entirely separate question.

I am willing to make possible inquiry into the contested territory on the side of the line, but north is a question of minorities concluded apologetically.

British Favors Iraq

Mr. Amerly then announced British authorities in Iraq come the council's commission in spite of Tewfik's defiance. Chairman Loucheur would meet with the hope that "We hope the Turkish will quickly give us the assurances we are the British."

Wife Charges Attempt to Bribe Maid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune.
PRESSBURG, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 24.—The judge today postponed further action in the suit of Max Reinhardt, noted theatrical producer, and his wife Elsie Helms, well known Vienna actress, until Oct. 7. In the meantime the lawyers for the litigants issued statements explaining the position of their clients. The judge trying the case yesterday held no regular men and the public from the courtroom on the ground that the evidence was prejudicial to public morals.

Herr Helms, former minister of justice and attorney for Miss Helms Reinhardt, in his statement, said:

"The divorce will not take place. I am an old friend of Herr Reinhardt as well as Mrs. Helms. We are the parents of six children who have been in the family after eighteen years of a happy union, I tried a reconciliation. When Herr Reinhardt broke up the home and endeavored to separate his sons, who are now seventeen and thirteen, from their fellow Miss Helms. Her maid was

"Miss Helms is able to submit documents to the court proving her assertions. Included is a letter from Miss Thimig to Herr Reinhardt, ending in the words:

"You succeed in getting a divorce at Pressburg, then victory."

Gives Other Side.

The attorney for Max Reinhardt had this to say:

"My client cannot use the same means as Miss Helms in securing a divorce. It would be ungentlemanly to broadcast such material to secure a divorce from a woman."

"Herr Reinhardt did not intend to leave Miss Helms without support, as she is an artist without means of existence."

"He never thought of offering a bribe to his wife's maid. All Herr Reinhardt's friends know he never led a wild life. He is a hard worker by nature, one of the hardest working men in German theatrical life. He is a man who would behave in a manner corresponding with his high intellectual qualities. He wants a divorce so he can marry Miss Thimig; this is a private matter."

"Miss Helms understood perfectly that her husband had a right to the life of an artist. She also hoped to be able to resume their friendship. It was only when Herr Reinhardt grew interested in Neren Thimig, a Vienna actress, that she demanded a divorce.

TATE JURY GETS WORD PICTURE OF JAIL CONFESSION

Marion, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The jury heard its first evidence as to how confessions were obtained from Robert Tate and his wife in the slaying of her first husband, Joseph Merton.

Chief of the Illinois State Police, Sheriff Randall Parks relate how Mrs. Tate was brought into her husband's cell in the county jail and how, sitting on the floor beside him, she pleaded with him to confess his part.

"Was there any mob around the jail?" Parks was asked.

"There was no mob," Parks replied. "We had to wait until he confessed, as he testified yesterday."

"No, I was up to his cell one time and did not disturb him, as he was asleep then."

"Every new arm has been scoffed at by the armless of the world," he declared. "In ancient days it was brute force that won struggles. Now man has found that brains count more than brawn."

Briar Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of the army's chemical warfare service, asserted last night in a speech before the Chemical Warfare Association at the City Club that gas would be the dominant factor in the next war.

And, he added, the United States has the most deadly gases ready—i.e., in fact, better prepared for a chemists'

SMITH'S AID NEVER BOOM SET FOR SUNDAY

Yorker to Get Boost for Presidency.

America leaders who left yesterday for the Gov. Al Smith to Sunday's meeting at the Beverly Hills forest park with their high hopes of victory for organization in the 1926 city and county elections and the reelection of Dever in 1927. In the back were hopes that important offices can be captured.

No secret that the New York crowd is being brought to the city on the opening gun in the two big fights. More closely guarded, was the expectation that the meeting proceeds of the picnic will wipe out unpaid debts of the mayoral and the 1924 campaign and leave a comfortable surplus in the war chest.

Good Thing for Local Tickets. The tickets will be announced to the public more who are expected to attend the picnic if the weather is good—that of Mayor Dever for a third term and that of Smith as the local organization's candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

While none too confident that a Democrat can snatch the presidency, the Brennanites still retain that Al Smith would carry his local running mates into city and county offices with huge majorities.

Stealing the organization's thunder, as regulars put it yesterday, came a statement from William L. O'Connell, leader of the recently formed Democracy of Illinois, pledging that faction to amendment of the Volstead act so that individual states may determine for themselves by referendum what are intoxicating beverages under the eighteenth amendment to the constitution.

To Reveal Program Sunday.

Refusing yesterday to discuss his second term ambitions, Mayor Dever promised: "A definite and unmistakable answer when the proper time comes."

Sunday's picnic.

Then he will review the achievements of his administration and reveal his "hobby of thirty years," a desire to bring music, perhaps grand opera, within general auditoriums. He hopes to promote public interest in good literature, clean amusement, and an understanding of painting and sculpture.

In the same statement yesterday the mayor denied the results of recent examinations for police captaincies were being withheld for political purposes. On the other hand, searching investigations into the life records of each lieutenant-candidate for promotion are under way, it was asserted, and meanwhile, it was pointed out, the delay is saving the city thousands of dollars in salaries.

Good Thing for Local Tickets.

The tickets will be announced to the public more who are expected to attend the picnic if the weather is good—that of Mayor Dever for a third term and that of Smith as the

SATURDAY BATHS STILL POPULAR, SURVEY REVEALS

The Saturday night weekly bath still is a popular habit, at least among the 2,000 pupils of the Scanian school, a survey by Dr. Clara Jacobson reveals.

She found that 61 per cent bathe weekly, 35 per cent two or three times a week, and 2 per cent daily.

Dr. Jacobson, in charge of the Grand Central dispensary of the city's Tuberculosis Sanitarium, says that 15 per cent of 4,000 cases are potential tuberculous cases and that 42 per cent were found amazinc: 75 per cent had enlarged and diseased tonsils; 74 per cent had decayed teeth; 41 per cent had enlarged thyroid glands, and 26 per cent defective posture. Forty per cent were found with defective vision; 6 per cent were slightly deaf in one or both ears, and rickets in infancy had left its effects on 27 per cent.

The corrective program, developed as one result of the survey, will be come standard in the school.

MINISTER BRENTANO COMING MONDAY. Theodore Brentano, United States minister to Hungary, will arrive in Chicago Monday for a visit of two months with his wife, Mrs. Brentano, a member of the Wimberly family. Brentano was a judge of the Supreme court in Cook county for thirty-two years.

JOHN T. D. NOSES OUT GUNSLIGHT IN FALL GUY STAKE

Favorites Bring Joy to Aurora Players.

BY FRENCH LANE.
Aurora, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—It was John T. D., by a nose in the $1,200 Fall Guy handicap, feature of the races here this afternoon. The selling plater conqueror of Princess Doreen and Cherry Pie in Ohio a few weeks ago, rallied briskly by Jockey R. Moore, late in the stretch, came with the rush of a champion to overtake six year old Gunslight in the last stride.

J. EATON. (Tribune Photo.) by John T. D., Gunslight had led from the barrier. A distant third, Gunslight, and she might have been racing hard to head with the leaders at the finish, but for a listless ride by Jockey H. Hay.

John T. D. easily beat his opponents, and he was close to the pace maker throughout. When the real test came he was more than equal to that occasion for it took him but a few strides to be even with Gunslight and while his margin of victory was narrow, he was running much the fastest at the finish.

The followers of favorites smashed their way to the front early on Tuesday, but Gunslight, Black Devil, and Nautilus in the opening and first race of Seth's parade home in the two year old second number. The fast son of Seth was the easiest winner of the day, shooting into a long lead on the turn into the stretch, and was five lengths in front at the end.

Coral Reef Wrecks Favorites.

Wiff was backed into favoritism in the third, but he was never a contender, Miss Fortune getting a nose decision over Jedburgh Abbey, while Rock Court was another nose back in third place.

One of the best things of the meet was won the fourth, Coral Reef took in the two lengths from Cloughout with Venetian third. Peggy O was made the favorite, but as usual she ran out. This filly should not be allowed to start on any race track.

The fifth race found another favorite, Auntie Millin, piloted by Jockey J. Eaton, the winner, after she shook off a stiff challenge from Variation in the stretch.

Star Sweeper's rally was not to be denied in the last race, and he led Pidgin and Resonance Home by a wide margin.

The Pearl Headed Pin
By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

John Ledway and his partner, John Selskirk, are accused of murdering a business lawyer who is supposed to have died in a railroad wreck. Selskirk serves twenty years in prison. Upon his release he informs Ledway's wife and her present husband, Colonel Hallett, goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ledway appears as an open heart. The Halletts are remodeling their London home with blackmail. Colonel Hallett arrives and Ledway, trying to escape, confesses a hallucination. March, it develops later, kills Ledway's throat, mutes him, then cuts the body into pieces and drops it into a river with papers of his own in a pocket. Some permanent, his frequent dithers. Confesses an art dilettante, and March, as a son of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as that of March's Uncle by the name. The police hunt Selskirk, suspected of killing March. Mrs. Hallett, however, fearing that she and her husband will be accused if the dead man is Ledway, she testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March, in exchange for $1,000. She also reveals that she and Joan had further shaked by the news that March killed himself with a gun. Joan plans to open a modest shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett him as March. He reveals that she named her in his will so he might set the record straight. He also reveals that he forced her to do this by threatening to call the police. When March learns that his mother is unable to give March's money to Bristow, as Mrs. Hallett has planned, she refuses to do so, but understanding occurs her, even when she tells him his life is in danger. Inspector Bristow learns that Mrs. Hallett has not been concerning a phone call to Potter, the caretaker. The latter, uneasy, tells him of the incident.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

"THE COLONEL AT SEA AGAIN."

This is very extraordinary behavior, Potter," said Col. Hallett. "It's no good trying you're sorry and leaving it at that. I want to know why you did telephone?"

He looked at Mrs. Hallett, then pulled himself together.

"I'm like this, sir. I don't mean anything disrespectful to Mrs. Hallett—Hallett knows that—but I didn't know she was going to say that in the time when the detective asked me—I never thought there was anything unusual, so I just said you had telephoned me to come to the flat and I was waiting and I didn't see Mrs. Hallett at the house at all. He wanted to know the time and everything, sir, and I told him I had just put the kettle on tea when you called me on the telephone and said I was to come to tell him."

There was a silence. Col. Hallett nodded.

"Well, Potter. Tell me everything you told the detective."

He told him just the plain truth, sir—not knowing as there was things he didn't want him to know. I told him I came here and was told you was waiting until I got a telephone call from her ladyship saying you had changed your plans, sir, and I was to go back to the house."

Then there was a silence. At Col. Hallett's temples a vein throbbed.

"I was a bit too ready, sir, and I'm very sorry, I'm sure."

"You were quite right, Potter," said Col. Hallett. "There has been some and/or cross-purpose. I needn't worry about that. You were right in telling the truth. If the detective calls again, don't tell him you

"Who was the man who imitated my voice on the telephone?"

"Don't know. —Sick to the truth. That's all, I think. Good-night, Potter." "Good-night, sir. Good-night, madam."

As the man left the room Col. Hallett crossed to the door and turned the light off.

"Well?" he demanded.

Mrs. Hallett could not answer. She dropped into a chair and closed her eyes. She had seen her husband's face go rigid; seen the color leave it; seen the reality go from his gaze. She believed she could bear no more—and knew they were infinitely more to bear.

Col. Hallett was making a silent effort at self-control.

"You told me just before dinner this evening that you spoke to the house and told him to come here and fetch your notes. Do you know that you saw Potter at the house?"

"I don't know," she answered faintly. "I'm beginning to forget—every thing that happened."

"Hush! Let me refresh your memory. You said that you felt faint, and I was going to send Carter to a chemist, when you insisted that I should go with him, as I think you said, he was very stupid outside mechanics. When we were both out of the way, did you telephone Potter here, telling him I had changed my plans and wished him to return to the house?"

"I know what you have done, me."

"What do you know? Potter was at this flat."

"It's rhetorical question, of course," went on Col. Hallett, his voice cold again. "I know the answer to it. I will give it to you. You knew Potter because you knew that some one, apparently imitating my voice, had spoken to Potter to come here. You told Potter that I had 'changed my voice' because you knew exactly what I am supposed to have said to Potter—what was said by the man who impersonated me."

"Who was the man who imitated my voice on the telephone?"

"I don't know. My God, Margaret, you're lying to me!"

Mr. Hallett knew that her husband's brain, turning over the world, would inevitably come to the conclusion that her own first explanation, he had dismissed as an hallucination, would now become the most logical of all. The truth alone would account for her actions—and the world meant that George would be dragged at her side to the dock to stand trial for the charge of murdering Henry Ledway, her first husband. At all costs she must stave off that truth. She must break his real reason by his emotions.

"Right. I will tell you. It was March himself."

"March? Why should he want Potter out of the way?"

"It was his madness. He wanted to be alone in the house with me. He was a fanatical—considering I was expected in half an hour."

"Well, he was mad." That, by the way, she thought, was weak and unconvincing. She hastened to strengthen it with a lie. "He tried to put you off, I know, when you told me to send you a bogus telephone message which would not reach you. He told me all this when he came in."

Right. Where was March when I came into the house?"

"I don't know. On the landing somewhere. Behind some scaffolding. I heard him draw in his breath sharply. For several seconds he said:

"Then: 'Do you remember your hallucination?' he snapped.

"'I—' I said. 'I can let me refresh your memory,'" he said tightly. "You told me that Ledway, my first husband, had come back, had come into that room and that he had not been killed, after all—that as soon as he heard me he disappeared through the secret door and was dashed to pieces. Do you remember saying that, Margaret?'"

"It was a moment of wild panic. It was dangerous to let his brain play loose, lost in a flash he should perceive the full, disastrous truth. I remember saying that. But, of course, as you proved at the time, it was a hallucination, and I—'"

"It hallucination?" he challenged.

Her grip on her heart. She tried to speak, but her voice broke.

"I'm afraid it was—as you say—a dodge."

She said eagerly, "I'm afraid it was—as you say—a dodge."

He had dropped into a chair and was staring over the table cloth at George, the brawny, the confident, the successful, was huddled and like a beaten and ruined man. He was struck down by her hands, that she would have thrust into the flames to help him.

He must not comfort him, must not go near him, lest his need of her be shaken.

She was in a dream, she went to the door, unlocked it, and passed into her

20 Airplanes
Coming Here
on Test Tour

Ships to Visit 11 Cities,
Travel 1,900 Miles.

More than 20 airplanes will visit Chicago next Monday as the first stop on a 1,900-mile tour of the country to demonstrate the practicality of commercial aviation. The tour is the first of its kind ever held. The planes will leave Detroit and visit eleven cities, competing for a trophy donated by Edsel Ford.

William R. Dawes, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and other prominent Chicagoans will greet the squadrons.

Some of the ships taking part are of unusual design. A Denver manufacturer will fly a combination land and air plane which can be used as an airplane or operated as an automobile capable of making 35 miles an hour on a smooth road. The Junkers Corporation has entered a six-passenger all metal monoplane which, according to experts, represents a unique development in all metal plane construction.

Joy Morton, 70, Host at Birthday Party Today

Several hundred employees and friends of Joy Morton, president of the Morton Salt company, will gather today at the Morton estate of 3,600 acres at Lisle, Ill., to celebrate his 70th birthday. Officers of the company in Chicago will be present, and the Morton and Morton business will take the guests to Lisle this morning.

Preparations are being made for a carnival, a dance floor, and an orchestra. Luncheon will be served outdoors.

Among those who will attend are Arthur W. Cutten, who headed Chicago's income tax list; Joseph Gordon, of the Rock Island railroad; Robert Upton, vice president of the Peoples Gas company, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. Morton.

U. C. Alumni Start After Final $2,000,000

Thirty alumni of the University of Chicago launched a city-wide campaign for the $2,000,000 yet to be pledged as Chicago's share of the amount necessary to complete the $2,000,000 alumni fund, at a dinner last night in the Wrigley building. Frank McNair, chairman of the steering committee in charge of the city drive, presided.

U. C. Freshmen to Hear President Mason Today

Freshman students at the University of Chicago will assemble this morning in Leon Mandel hall on the campus to hear an address by President Mason.

The freshmen are required to matriculate a week earlier than other students, and are given psychological tests and personal interviews by members of the faculty. Dean Ernest H. Wilkins said yesterday the early registration had proved successful and that failures among the freshmen had been cut to 5 per cent in Chicago, as against an average of 25 per cent in the universities in the United States.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question, Mrs. F. U. Holt, 704 Fourth avenue, Rock Island, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

If you were a child in a large family, would you prefer to be the eldest, youngest, or one in between?

Where Asked.

Superior street at State.
Harry Lawler, 4421 Lowe avenue, student—I'd rather be the eldest, because I could help support my younger brothers and sisters. I would find more satisfaction in helping them than in being a recipient from them. I am the youngest in our family.

Dr. Ida F. Hershiser, Davenport, Iowa, chiropractor—The youngest. The youngest can take advantage of the mistakes and successes of the older ones. I would be the youngest in the family and the pet of the family.

Miss Jeanette Stevenson, 1249 North Kedzie avenue, bookkeeping operator—The one between. Just like I am. I am surrounded on both sides by an elder and a younger sister. I ought to have been a boy—I wish I were the eldest of a family of four.

P. O. Morris, 5307 North Robey street, manager—I am the youngest in our family, and I would want to be the youngest. Everything I asked for always was forthcoming—that's when I was a little shaver. The older ones always looked upon me with solicitude, and I know the advantage of this.

I'm the thinnest. I'm the thinnest.

Our Best Manicure Circles Put Ban on the Double Shine

By Antoinette Donnelly

When in doubt as to what to answer when the beautiful manicurist inquires, "Will you have two coatings of liquid polish on your nails?" say "One will do."

That double charged shine is considered vulgar. Pink nails are in quite good form, but red is out in our best manicured circles. Of course, if you are one of the Daughter of the Nile type the ban may be lifted. But what modern American girl can look the Egyptian queen from sassing to scandal and attend to her job?

When you are having the one coat of nail polish, insist that the coloring be applied without blotting out the moon at the base of the nail as well as the white. Before it dries, it can be wiped off quickly. Once dry, the entire coloring has to be removed and another applied. The coloring definitely appears round the nail, pinker and the corners and the finger tips whiter, the effect you are after. The contrast gives a pretty effect.

The quantity of shine on the nail ought to be left to personal choice, but the overglossed fingertips look gauche, and since they are not covered by the ridiculous women there does not seem to be any particular reason for their continuance.

The pointed finger tip, too, has lost vogue among the smartly manicured. The oval is preferred and the nails are permitted to grow longer than formerly. A small girl, however, should not try to adopt the Nita Naldi nail length. Proportion must be considered in even such a small detail as the length of the finger nail, but there is no question that a slightly plump hand would not be able to take the extremely long finger nail test without its being made grotesque.

If at the course of the day continuous tapping of the typewriter keys threatened the measured length of the finger tips, Soak them for about ten minutes, then wipe the fingers, but do not wash them. The same oil may be used several times. In extreme cases it is well to tie the finger tips ed beneath the nail at night and kept on till morning will keep them from becoming brittle.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MISS F.: IF THE NAILS BREAK constantly, soak them every night in slightly warmed sweet almond oil or olive oil. The liquid may be put into a small tin at depth sufficient to cover the fingers. Soak them for about ten minutes, then wipe the fingers, but do not wash them. The same oil may be used several times. In extreme cases it is well to tie the finger tips in oil for the night. Dip pieces of absorbent cotton in the oil, place on the nails and bind on with pieces of muslin. After a week's application there should be a vast improvement.

M. D. S.: YOU NEED A VACATION. Get out into the country for a couple of weeks. Forget about the typewriter and the shorthand. Spend your time out of doors, swimming, playing tennis, rowing, golfing—but remain in the fresh air as much as possible. Your restlessness and nervousness will disappear, and you'll come back rested and ready for another year's work.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Deserted by Husband.

I wonder if you can get me some furniture, as we have three rooms and I have no way of buying any. My husband has deserted me since he became one, m., & my boy has died. I have the two little boys left, one 6 and one 4, and it is more than I can do to support them. The neighbors have given me a mattress and a comforter and her little ones more comfortable?

"A. P."

What will your contribution be for this pitiful case? If it is the moving expenses, I'll send some article of furniture which you will be glad to donate to make this discouraged mother and her little ones more comfortable?

E. L. E.

Remember that the donor of this interesting gift of magazines is moving soon, so put in your application at once. To any one who has followed the case and full of photo stardom, we are sure the offer will prove of value.

Donating Movie Magazines.

I have collections of various motion picture magazines, dating back as far as 1914, which I had hoped to have anything that you can do for us.

Six to Ten Rejoices in the Tailored Coat

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—The other day at one of the openings I felt revives one of the keenest pangs of my childhood. For I saw the kind of velvet cloaks for which—because Reginald Birch used to put them on my favorite heroines—I used to long. In vain my mother explained that a chubby, long-legged tomboy looked better in tweed. I think I believed that once inside the wrap of my choice I would turn into a proud and dignified person.

And, as I looked at that collection of junior models, I think perhaps I was right. For it would seem that any little girl would look a princess in such coats as these. All of velvet, they appear in wine dark reds, woody browns, and blacks as rich as soot. Moreover, they have a certain dash and natural fur and in the skirts were rippling flares that caught the light richly.

Yet, youthful prejudice aside, there were other wraps present quite as charming for little girls. Woolen coats, also for trimmed, were cut on graceful shapes. Many of them had circular buckles and come, a large loose sleeve and a director's belt across the waist.

Practically none of these coats had fur borders, but rather patches of fur or panels set in as godets.

The coat we show here demonstrates the double-breasted cut. But, unlike those I just described, it has a plain front. It is developed in a narrow waist and trimmed with bright red on collar, pockets, and revers. Blue and red buttons fix the impression of a smartness as gay as it is plain.

The question of sex determination has been decided in Germany for the past few years. Protest that war itself, not directly concerned is furnished by Japanese statistics. After the Russo-Japanese war they recorded a notable increase in female births. But during and after the Russo-Japanese war the Japanese enjoyed hitherto unknown prosperity.

During and after the great war (1914-1918) there were similar food periods and periods of restriction that brought nutritional troubles.

Thereupon, then, people who have suffered most from lack of food are those that will have the largest increase in male births. Increase of females corresponds to abundance and increase of males to dearth.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special Correspondence.]—Fashions in gowns this season are extremely kind to the man who is not built on athletic lines and yet has a hankering to look so. For one thing, the popular lapel is a broad peaked affair, and this is just the thing to make a slim shouldered individual look like a cheetah. And, if he is built for height, for the pointed effect gives help to offset a tendency to squatness of a short figure. What the short man should do is to wear a coat that is cut with sharp blunt lapels. He should rather seek all the sharp lines possible in his outfit, and avoid all round ones or blunt angles.

You have a brown suit of medium shade of brown, bear in mind what one well dressed man I saw wore with such a suit. He had on a brown and white striped shirt with self collar, and a tan foulard with small black and white dots. He wore a tan felt hat, tan oxfords, and tan shoes of two shades of brown, ribbed silk.

I observed the well dressed man's old stand-by, a dark blue suit, smartly dressed up with a green shirt striped with white, and a tie of dark green and red in even stripes. Another dark blue suit was attractively combined with a lavender and white striped shirt, and a plain tie of plum color, with a handkerchief of the same color sticking out of the breast pocket.

Week-end Special STEAM OIL Permanent Wave $12.50

Smart women prefer our permanent wave, as it leaves the hair with a natural texture and without trace of fire or damage. It is done in 2 hours by skilled experts only, who are the best in the country.

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of infection.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassing.

You adopt it simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents at drug or department stores. Proves old ways a folly.

Ether Affords a Variety of Good Things

Elmer Praises WBCN and Zion Stations.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Variety was the order of the night. While hovering over low wave length stations at 7 o'clock attention was attracted to WBCN by a concert by piano pupils of Margaret McArthur. William Morrison held one's interest in Grainger's "Country Garden" and somebody's "Etude Melodic." Edwin McArthur made a most delightful session with a walls and minuettes by Chopin and MacDowell, respectively. Helen Updyke in Rachmaninoff's C Sharp Minor Prelude, played slower than usual and a bit more lovely. The lady who played Paderewski's "Minuetto" should learn to fall in love with lovely airs and treat them lovingly. Entire program faultlessly presented.

It took some moments to enter the spirit of the atmosphere prevailing at WERH, 750, with Florence K. White, soprano, with Beulah Landon, violinist, assisting. Once into the atmosphere we found Miss White singing a sincere musical message and with an aristocratic background unmistakably noticeable. A certain tenderness of voice made two totally new numbers have a heart appeal all their own. The song cycle, "Divas of Hoods" (Marilyn), "Invitation to Earth" (Kurtsweiler).

The radio audience will remember Miss Landon's exquisite playing of Kreisler's "Spanish Dance," from its double stopping. Bach resolving-like character, for this was a climax of many moments of great beauty during this recital.

I couldn't wait up to that old timer, Gilbert, to hear his "Picture of Romance" by the W-G-N radio production company. The presentation was all right, but this fairly early opera of Sullivan's apparently has served its day.

I had a headache at 9 o'clock. I discovered I had missed the $30 Caesar Franck piano recital by Announces Whitney. WMAQ had not set my mind to the fact that we are not blessed with these honors every day.

So at 9 I listened instead to Fred Dow and Russell Pratt at this station, in the first of a series of novelty programs, last night's being Gems from "Musical Melodies." These duo singers have about them an atmosphere all their own. It is a "long ago" atmosphere, both in their program material and in their manner of interpretation.

It is with profound satisfaction that we now find WCBD, Zion, coming in with perfect modulation. A male quartet with perfectly balanced voices, and a corner quartet were figuring prominently. How pure the station tone! How pure and serene the mental tone! What an altogether admirable station, WCBD, Zion!

Woman Wins 17 Yr. Legal Battle for Land Near Gary

Mrs. Dennis Carr, after seventeen years of legal action, has been declared by a jury to be the rightful owner of forty-three acres of land, valued at $350,000, adjoining the steel mills at Gary. Mrs. Carr is 70 years old. At the trial just concluded, which was fought before a jury of citizens, she was upheld as against those of rival owners. The decision of the jury awards her squatter's rights.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY

(Friday, Sept. 25.)

(Chicago Daylight Saving Time.)

Three features are announced by W-G-N for Sunday:

Gov. Al Smith of New York will speak over WGN from the Democratic picnic at Roosevelt Park, 5 o'clock. Kathryn Brownie, contralto of the Chicago Civic opera, will be heard in a recital at 8:30. Jewish New Year services will be broadcast at 8 o'clock Sunday evening from Medina temple.

A NOTHER of its delightful hours of varied and interesting music will be offered by the W-G-N radio production company at 8:30 this evening from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE STATION on the Drake hotel.

The following members of the company will participate in the program: Andrew Marie Sweet, soprano; Miss Kathleen Ryan, contralto; Paul Mallory and Dan Baker, tenors; Frank Bennett, baritone, and Mark Lowe, basso. The company accompanist is Miss Marion Carlisle. Leon Lichtenfeld, cellist of the Tribune trio, is to be another feature of this hour.

Elbert Hubbard, the composer of popular songs, and Charles Clegg and Ed Boland, who are to sing his latest hit, "Good Morning, Kentucky," offers sufficient reason for tuning in W-G-N at 10:30 tonight for a full hour's mad jazz session. Jack Chapman and his Drake hotel dance orchestra will split the sixties minutes with the trio.

"Tea time" from W-G-N at 2:30 this afternoon will again feature the Marshall Field & Co. tea room orchestra, directed by Samuel Leviton.
